

NURSE ATTENTIVELY

REPOSITION BABY

When finished nursing, ALWAYS unlatch and reposition baby upright away from breast.

LISTEN TO BABY'S BREATHING

Reposition baby if breathing is raspy, loud or abnormal.

CHIN IS NOT TUCKED TO CHEST

Two finger spaces should be between baby's chin and chest. Ensure baby does not curl into a "C" position. Don't let baby's chin rest on or near their chest.

MAKE SURE AIRWAY IS NOT OBSTRUCTED

Baby's mouth and nose must not be obstructed by your breast, clothing or the baby carrier.

READ THE CUES

Let your baby tell you when they are hungry, full or needing your comfort.

Gently unlatch sleeping baby. Reposition baby upright, above your breast and near your heart after nursing.

HAPPINESS

Babies who are carried regularly cried 43% less and 54% less during evening hours.

INTERACTION

Close interaction between babies and adults leads to early learning and social development.

NURTURE

Babywearing gives families lots of opportunities to nurture and bond, turning up the nurture-meter.

CONFIDENCE

Be up close, learn baby's subtle cues and soon you'll have parental ESP with quick response to baby's needs

HEARTBEAT

Babywearing helps make the transition from womb to the outside world easier for the baby. Close contact keeps baby near a beating heart with the constant motion they experience in the womb.

GOOD HEALTH

Regular babywearing strengthens parent's core muscles while helping baby's balance and muscle development. Babywearing lowers and stabilizes stress hormones in babies and parents.

EXPLORE

Light and easy to travel with, the right carrier will make traveling a breeze. Navigate crowds safely and without the bumps - leave the stroller at the curb.
